Gentlemen

I have in my possession some Old Coins - Roman, which I dug up in France

Mr R.J. Hunt Director of the Mint. Washington D.C. informs me your office may assist me in finding if same have any value, what charge do you make for examining same and if you do such, how can I proceed to have them examined and valued.

Respectfully.

Dear Sir:

Replying to your favour of recent date, we should be glad to attribute your Roman coins for you at the rate of from ten cents to twenty-five cents a piece.

Judging from previous experience, we very much doubt if the pieces dug up in France are worth classifying as they are generally very poor and are commercially worth very little in consequence.

If you would care to send them to us, we shall be pleased to attribute them for you.

Very truly yours,

Curator
